MISSION

To support individuals and organizations working to protect children from abuse and neglect worldwide.

OBJECTIVES

• To increase awareness of the extent, the causes and possible solutions for all forms of child abuse
• To disseminate academic and clinical research to those in positions to enhance practice and improve policy
• To support international efforts to promote and protect the Rights of the Child
• To improve the quality of current efforts to detect, treat and prevent child abuse
• To facilitate the exchange of best practice standards being developed by ISPCAN members throughout the world
• To design and deliver comprehensive training programs to professionals and concerned volunteers engaged in efforts to treat and prevent child abuse
DEAR MEMBERS, COLLEAGUES, AND FRIENDS,

I am very pleased to report that 2014 was an exciting and productive year with the Congress in Nagoya being a resounding success. This was due to the hard work of Dr Michiko Kobayashi and Julie Todd, their committees and all who were involved. We were very honoured to be graced by the presence of HIH Princess Akishiro and her daughter, HIH Princess Kako.

The Congress provided ISPCAN the opportunity to recognise the dedicated work of: Kim Oates (Australia) - Kempe Lectureship Award; Gaby Taub (France) – Distinguished Service Award; and, INGO “Ponimanie” (Belarus) and the National Family Safety Program/Child Protection Centre (KSA) – Multi-Disciplinary Team Award. I made two Presidential awards in recognition of the lifetime contribution to CAN and Children’s Rights of Andal Domadaran (India) and Arnon Bentovim (UK).

In Amsterdam in May 2014, I was delighted to be present when NeSPCAN, an Associate Partner, was launched - a key moment in Dutch child abuse and neglect history. At this conference, I was also pleased to launch our e-learning modules.

In keeping with ISPCAN’s intention to use conferences to share knowledge, key papers from the 2013 European Conference were published in the ISPCAN special edition of the Irish Journal of Applied Social Studies: http://arrow.dit.ie/ijass/

The prevention of violence to children is a huge task internationally, requiring us to work together to maximize our collective impact. ISPCAN is extremely grateful to the OAK Foundation for a grant that enables us to continue to build our future. In March 2014, ISPCAN was accepted as a member of the International NGO Council on Violence Against Children. ISPCAN is also very pleased to be involved with WHO, Childline International, ECPAT, Plan International and other key organisations.

In August 2014, Sherrie Bowen, our Executive Director, moved on from ISPCAN. We are very grateful to Sherrie for her dedicated work over the past 11 years and wish her well in the future.

It has been a privilege to serve ISPCAN for the past two years as President. In handing over to Joan van Niekerk, I know ISPCAN has a President who strives constantly to secure the rights of all children worldwide.

Jenny Gray
ISPCAN President 2012 - 2014

Dear Colleagues,

“Stepping into the shoes” of Jenny Gray, the outgoing President of ISPCAN, is somewhat daunting; however, Past Presidents of ISPCAN do remain active in the ISPCAN Council in order to advise and share the wisdom related to their experiences as President. I am therefore grateful to Jenny Gray for her continued support as the organisation continues to grow and develop.

My initial focus in the closing months of 2014 was to assist in the appointment of the new Executive Director of ISPCAN. I therefore, have the pleasure of introducing to the ISPCAN membership, our partners and donors, Mr. Stephen Werner. Mr. Werner has a long history in international non-profit organisations and project management and begins work with ISPCAN at the start of the New Year.

Looking ahead - 2015 promises to be a very busy year for ISPCAN with 3 regional conferences (Toluca: Mexico, Bucharest: Romania and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia) and preparations for the August 2016 Congress in Calgary, Canada. I trust our membership, donors and partners will continue to support and benefit from our activities.

Joan van Niekerk
ISPCAN President 2014 - 2016
PROVIDING TRAINING...

REGIONAL RESOURCE CENTERS
ISPCAN is partnering with local child protection organizations to develop four online regional resource centers located around the world, specifically: Latin America, Africa, Arab States, and Asia. Each will assess gaps in knowledge and resources in their region and develop and source culturally appropriate, evidence-based resources that will address the identified gaps and increase the capacity of the region in their efforts to prevent and treat child abuse and neglect.

ICAST
ICAST, translated into 20 languages, has successfully served as a common instrument worldwide to enable systematic collection and comparison of data on the extent and depth of child abuse. Since 2011, ISPCAN has provided the tools and technical support to approximately 120 research projects. In 2014, all three tools underwent significant revision to address needs and concerns of users.

CHILD TRAFFICKING
Dr. Jordan Greenbaum is leading a global, interdisciplinary scoping study related to child trafficking victims. The project aims to mobilize an international coalition of child protection experts working in this area in order to collect, evaluate, and develop a database of resources, identify gaps in available resources and knowledge, and establish an action plan for infrastructure that will address ongoing challenges and issues related to child trafficking throughout the world.

AND TOOLS

CHILD MALTREATMENT DATA SYSTEM CONSULTATION
Partnering with The Kempe Center and the National Family Safety Program (NFSP), ISPCAN continued a consultation project for a child maltreatment data system in Saudi Arabia, with the goal of assisting the NFSP to advance and conduct its research in child maltreatment data collection.

CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT MENTAL HEALTH TRAINING
ISPCAN also worked with NFSP to provide a basic child abuse and neglect mental health training for mental health professionals in Saudi Arabia. The trainers, ISPCAN Past President Irene Intebi and ISPCAN Secretary Vicky Lidchi, focused on several topics, including but not limited to: child development, attachment, consequences of abuse, and intervention.

OBSEVERSHIPS
Through our continued partnership with NFSP, two child maltreatment professionals, a child and adolescent psychiatrist and a social services manager, went to London, UK to participate in an intensive observership program, which included meetings and trainings with health personnel, child protection teams, and social workers, among others.

CHILD PROTECTIVE WORKSHOPS
In collaboration with Protection and Help of Children Against Abuse and Neglect (PAHCHAAN) and Child Rights and Abuse Committee, Pakistan Pediatric Association (CRAC-PPA), we presented at five workshops in Pakistan on child protection systems. Around 60 child protection professionals and youth volunteers attended.
JOINING TOGETHER IN JAPAN

The XXth ISPCAN International Congress on Child Abuse and Neglect, held in Nagoya, Japan, brought together professionals from 64 countries. ISPCAN collaborated with our Country Partner, JaSPCAN to host this successful event, which joined with the annual two-day JaSPCAN local national conference. With over 300 abstracts presented at the Congress alone, the two events provided great learning opportunities for all 2,362 participants.

Some of the pre- and post- events included a Countries in Transition Forum, looking at the theme of corporal punishment and gender-based violence; a rousing youth forum, which included virtual participation bringing together young people around the world; and a Master Class which had a record number of attendees and was simulcast in Japanese.

We were fortunate to have excellent Keynote Speakers:

- Susan Bissell (UNICEF): End violence against children – Action to prevent and respond to violence against children
- Marta Santos Pais (United Nations Special Representative): Toward a world free from violence against children
- Michiko Kobayashi (JaSPCAN Chair & Congress Co-Chair): Learn from the past, act for the future: Lessons from our last 20 years and plans toward a caring society for abused children and abusive parents in Japan
- Michael Wessells (USA): Bottom-up approaches to strengthening national child protection systems: Placing children, families, and communities at the center
- Francisco Pilotti (Chile): Integrating child protection and social protection systems: Reflections on the Latin American case

It was an honor to have Her Imperial Highness Princess Akishino, who has a special interest in child welfare, address the Congress. She attended with her daughter, Her Imperial Highness Princess Kako.

Several organizations and businesses sponsored the Congress including: Kansai TV, SBI Children’s, the Shiseido Foundations, Plan International, Elsevier Publications, and nine companies that sponsored specific sessions. Finally, we must acknowledge the work done by both the JaSPCAN committee and the numerous volunteers on-site. Many of the volunteers worked the entire Congress and were invaluable to staff and delegates acting as translators and guides throughout the event.

“It was a privilege to be able to hear from worldwide experts in this field as well as having the chance to discuss the challenges of encouraging child safe attitudes and implementing child abuse prevention practices in the communities that we serve...To work towards child-centered communities...is not a pipe dream, but a goal that can be realistically grasped when coupled with the expertise and resources that ISPCAN provides.”

EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL
Child Abuse & Neglect: The International Journal, rated #1 on Google Scholar for Social Work, is a monthly peer-reviewed journal, providing high-quality, multidisciplinary, international information on all aspects of child abuse and neglect. Members receive a print and online subscription.

TRI-ANNUAL NEWSLETTER
The LINK provides topical reports and offers an exchange of information on challenges and best practices, as well as updates on ISPCAN programs, events, and activities. It is published in six languages: Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian, and Spanish.

SNAPSHOT OF CHILD ABUSE
The World Perspectives on Child Abuse is published every two years, since 1992. The 11th edition’s publication coincided with the Congress in Japan and provided an added look at child sexual abuse. Seventy-three countries participated in the survey, representing all regions of the world.

CENTRAL HUB
Our website serves as a central resource for publications, tools, upcoming events, training materials and other key information. The public portion of the website acts as a resource for anyone interested in the child maltreatment, while members receive special, member-only access.

E-LEARNING
We partnered with Augeo Academy to develop five interactive e-learning courses, including one course offered in Spanish. They are available for purchase on our website, with a 50% discount for ISPCAN members.
In 2014, our community is comprised of 1,100 members in nearly 100 countries, representing all regions of the world. Membership rates in each region have remained about the same through the past few years, with North America having the largest representation. Our members come from many professional backgrounds, including: medicine, education, psychology, social work, education, government, nursing, and psychiatry.

Our members take pride in being part of a larger network of child maltreatment professionals. They are able to communicate with, learn from, teach, and share their experiences with like-minded individuals around the world. The benefit of working together to create a better world for children is invaluable, but members can also expect more tangible benefits, including discounts to conferences and on publications.

They receive a subscription to our peer-reviewed journal, Child Abuse & Neglect: The International Journal, including online access through 1977. Notably, the Journal has gone through a recent update to be more valuable and interesting to readers, including more articles and special issues whilst maintaining high-quality content.

HONORARY MEMBERS

Thanks to our sponsor, Elsevier, Ltd., and the support of individual donors, we are able to award child protection professionals in developing countries free, two-year memberships. We awarded 52 honorary memberships this year, enabling these professionals to receive all the benefits of a standard membership.

“I joined ISPCAN in 2004, because I, among thousands of other professionals, found it in the highest league in the prevention of child abuse and neglect worldwide. ISPCAN is a champion and pioneer, providing the greatest example of high level professional exchange and an opportunity for meeting each year with the best scientists and practitioners from all corners of the globe, learning and sharing the best with them.”

- Andrey Makhanko, Chairman of the Board & Executive Director of INGO “Ponimanie”, Belarus
In one year, through all of our programs, we have directly reached over 3,600 child protection professionals around the world.

Revenues derived from membership, grants, publications, international conferences, trainings, and in-kind donations have provided the resources necessary to deliver a wide array of direct services to our members, support member-initiated projects covering specific topics or regions, and provide additional services and support to child maltreatment professionals who are not yet members.

Revenues in 2014 were higher in 2013 in nearly all programmatic areas. Overall revenues increased particularly due to an increase in royalties from subscriptions to Child Abuse and Neglect: the International Journal and continued international trainings and consultation. While membership revenues were slightly lower this year, member numbers remain steady and are expected to remain steady or increase in the coming years. Membership expenses remain low, without sacrificing member benefits.

Though some expenses increased, it typically coincided with expanded programming. The increase in the area of operational support was primarily due to the Executive Director transition, which took place during the last few months of the year. As such, this expense is expected to decrease and return to normal levels in the coming years, typically 15% of our total expenses.

Conference & Congress expenses increased due to the larger international Congress, which we host every other year, and to the planning of three regional conferences to take place in 2015. Publication costs also increased slightly in 2014, primarily due to the publication of the World Perspectives, which is published every other year, coinciding with the Congress.

These financial data do not capture the total value of our programs and services. Thanks to the significant contributions of our volunteers and Country Partners, we are able to offer our members more comprehensive support than we would otherwise.

ISPCAN is a not-for-profit, tax-exempt organization as designated by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service under 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

FINANCIAL AUDIT 2014 (SELECTED DATA)

ISPCAN audited financial results for 2014: Current assets at the end of 2014 were $871,234. Property and equipment at cost (less depreciation) was $9,169. Total assets were $880,403, and total liabilities were $104,153, bringing ISPCAN’s year-end net assets to $761,116. This is a net increase of $232,000.

ISPCAN prepares its financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the USA (GAAP); these statements are formally audited each year in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the USA.

JOIN OUR COMMUNITY

AS A MEMBER.
Members receive a subscription to Child Abuse & Neglect: The International Journal, discounts on events and publications, and numerous opportunities to speak with colleagues from around the world. Membership dues enable us to pay for the production of publications, and online services, all of which support our efforts to advance the rights of children around the world.

AS A VOLUNTEER.
As an international organization, we want to make our materials as widely available as possible. This means we often rely on volunteers to help translate our newsletters, executive summaries, and other publications. You will help us expand our reach, making resources available to professionals who may not otherwise have access to such information.

AS A DONOR.
With your help, we are able to provide resources and learning opportunities to child protection professionals in both developing and developed countries. Your financial support provides abused and at-risk children access to professionals and places to turn for help.

AS A PARTNER.
You will be in good company with other non-profit organizations like Singapore Children’s Society, Nordic Association for Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect, and INGO “Ponimanie” (“Understanding”), among many others.
